

Ongoing Project: Transforming Toy

I am currently working on a my very own Transformer toy, made primarily from 3D-printed plastic parts. Tolerancing and determining working mechanisms is the brunt of this work, in addition to CAD in Fusion 360. Making the model appear nicely while also performing functionally has been both challenging and rewarding.

